First Meat Market in Charleston, Utah 1890-1910

Charleston, Utah had a small row of businesses and a one-room Post Office near the turn of the century, 1890 to 1910.

Emil Kohler, who was a Swiss butcher, ran the first (?) a meat market. Later, an Englishman, George Smith set up another butcher shop there.

Bishop Nymphus Coridon Murdock had started a cooperative store. George Daybell ran a cooperative creamery in 1894. Phoebe North Daybell had a women's millinery shop. Sarah Ritchie Wrightman ran a women's dressmaking parlor. Ernest Bates had a sweets and ice cream shop.

Daddy, I put the information in different order so the butcher shops would be first. If you want me to change it back, just mark this up. Sondra
